

Election Goes To Keating

New Student Body President Dennis Keating.

New Council President Proves 'It Does Make a Difference'

Dennis Keating heads the Student Council of Loyola College during the next academic year.

In carrying each class by at least 16 votes, Keating should note that to 320 students "It does make a difference."

Keating's election indicates to a certain extent, the effect of an all-out campaign. Was it a campaign which produced Keating as President-elect or was it Keating who produced the campaign? The proceedings throughout the campaign make this question practically unanswerable.

The debate between Denny and his opponent during the race, Bill Scholtes, may well be described as the turning point of the campaign. Denny's demonstration on election day was indeed the highlight of the race in which Dennis Keating eventually finished on the top spot.

The new president is a well-rounded individual as evidenced by his past record of service to school, church, and community.

In High School

While a student at Mount Saint Joseph High School, Denny participated in soccer, track, and basketball in addition to activity in dramatics, debating, public speaking, glee club, student publications and the National Honor Society.

Denny served as Saint Joe's representative during his junior and senior years both to the United Youth of Maryland and the Governor's Youth Conference.

Mr. Keating also holds a comprehensive background in Loyola activities. He is past president of the International Relations Club, and the Bellarmine Debating Society, and the Loyola Young Republicans. He is presently head of the ASO and the Loyola chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha.

In addition, he is a member of the GREYHOUND staff and Alpha Sigma Nu. Having competed on the tennis team, Dennis is often found in the gym, on the tennis courts and in "several other elite places."

Mr. Keating has served on the Student Council for the past years as a Representative-at-large and as a Social Science Representative for his class. He has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Student Council both years—first as Corresponding Secretary and then as Parliamentarian.

CCD Member

Denny is serving the church by teaching in the CCD program in his parish, St. Charles Borromeo.

Mr. Keating's service to community began with his participation in the Maryland Boy's State Program which was simultaneous with his active participation in the 1960 National Presidential Election. Memberships in several Young Republican organizations reveal his political sympathies at the present time.

Among the programs Denny aspires to conduct are the establishment of an Honor System and a possible Student or combined Student-Faculty Court to deal with disciplining action.

Under his supervision the new constitutional Student Activities Committee will go into operation. An extension of the Film Seminar, sponsorship of more mixers, and a Field Day, all with Notre Dame, are now perceptible.

Another of Mr. Keating's ideas is the setting up of some sort of "Homecoming." The general and most important goal of Dennis Keating is the bringing about of a more active and a more representative Student Council.

96.3% of Student Body Cast Votes at Election

The students of Loyola have culminated two weeks of campus activity with the election of the class officers for next year.

This year's election was marked by a record turnout at the poles. The class of '65 was most representative with 97.3% of its members voting.

The senior class Presidency, vied for by four students, went to Don Rohleder. Don's assistant next year will be Orv Mowbray who took the Vice-Presidency. They will be aided by Paul Cashour in the Secretary post and Mike Morgan, as Treasurer. The representatives for next year's senior class will be John Herrmann in the Natural Sciences, Bob Kammer for the Business, and Bob Johnston for social science.

The sophomore class elected Bob Diegleman over incumbent John O'Shea as 96.2% of that body voted. Skip Siewierski was re-elected Vice-President, as was Tom Brown to the post of class Secretary. Pete Ruane, a newcomer to the political field, will take over as Treasurer. Dick Higdon was elected to a class office for the third time and will serve as the Social Science Representative. John Caulfield will speak for the Natural Science section of the class. Once again Bob Santoni will sit on the Student Council for the Business Sections.

Colimore Receives Fulbright Honor

Professor Vincent J. Colimore, Chairman of the Department of Modern Languages, has been selected as a Fulbright-Hays Fellow under the International Education Exchange Program.

He was one of ten college teachers selected from the United States to receive a grant for study in Europe this summer.

The summer seminar on Italian language, literature and history will be held in Rome under the auspices of the Facoltà di Magistero of the University of Rome from June 22 to August 7, with a free travel period following the six-week academic program. The grant includes the cost of tuition and round-trip transportation and travel within Italy in connection with the program.

A native of Baltimore, Mr. Colimore attended Loyola High School and received his bachelor of arts degree from Loyola University of Chicago in 1938. He received his master's degree in Romance languages at Fordham University in 1953. He has completed the course work for his Ph. D. in the philosophy.

Charlie Schleupner will serve as President for the Class of '67. Phil Lieski is to act as Vice-President during the upcoming year. The secretarial duties will be handled by John White, while Jim Moritz will keep a check on the class finances. Bill Moeller, who served this year as Freshman Class President, will work with Dick Friedel as representatives-at-large for next year's sophomores.

Fr. Beatty Inaugurates Kennedy Library Drive

Father Beatty has kicked off the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library Drive on our campus.

As a part of this national drive, the purpose of our campaign is to raise money and collect signatures to represent Loyola's contribution to the Library.

The National drive was started by a committee located in a Boston apartment formerly occupied by President Kennedy himself. The committee has invited every American college to help collect 750,000 signatures and to raise $250,000 for a special student-given room within the Library.

The room could house material dealing with President Kennedy's interest in youth—his founding of the Peace Corps and his efforts to improve American education. Signatures collected during the student drive will also be on public display at the library.

In addition to donating money, any student or member of the faculty or staff that would like to actively support the construction of this memorial, is urged to sign the individual college participation book.

Located in Boston

The John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library will be erected in Boston, Massachusetts, at a site along the Charles River. President Kennedy personally chose this site both because he wished the Library to be close to the scenes of his own youth and because he wanted it to be a part of a living educational community.

The Library will be a memorial to President Kennedy. It will seek to express in architecture the spirit and style of the thirty-fifth President. But it will be much more than a monument; for an appropriate memorial must also express President Kennedy's vivid concern for

Editorials

Civil War Over

The smoke has cleared and the banners of political strife have been filed for another 365 days. All of the efforts and toils of the young office seekers were but the birth pangs which are always necessary for the emergence of new life.

The victorious candidates are given a chance to perform new duties as they enter into the infancy stage of their term of office. The defeated candidates played the part of midwives and, in effect, took part in the pain of ushering in the new officers.

The men who were elected have a responsibility to the electorate. The staff and editors of the GREYHOUND first congratulate the new officers. We also remind them of their duties and offer our assurance, cooperation, and encouragement.

In particular we offer our best wishes to Dennis Keating in his election to the office of Student Body President. In this capacity he has a vast responsibility to the entire school and also by his leadership as President of the Student Council we hope and believe that he will fulfill this responsibility most effectively.

Mr. Keating fought a hard campaign—one which many people have said to be the best in the college's history. It definitely was very colorful and one to which the student body reacted. This seemed to be the most interesting part of the campaigns for Student Body President this year. The students did not sit by passively and yawn at the candidates' programs. Instead they participated.

In this respect the students are also to be congratulated for their work in the campaigning. By far the most gratifying sight seen by us was the debate between the candidates in the student lounge. It was the first time that we have seen the lounge packed with interested students. This showed good spirit which we hope will continue in all the activities at Loyola—academically, spiritually, socially, and politically.

So men, onward to bigger and better things at Loyola College.

Meanwhile at Notre Dame

Recently some of the members of the GREYHOUND staff have been talking to the student leaders of Notre Dame. The main conclusion of these talks is that there should be more of a social union between the two neighboring colleges as well as the already initiated academic union.

Some of the Loyola students have also been discussing the possible closer relations with Notre Dame. Both sides agree that there is no reason why the two schools cannot get to know each other better with the use of social functions.

The newly elected Student Body President of Notre Dame, Sharon O'Rourke, is very much behind the idea of having jointly sponsored activities. The student leaders of both schools met yesterday to discuss and plan for these ends. The results will be known shortly.

For example, Notre Dame has bowling alleys on their campus. A possible co-ed bowling league could be organized. Last year there was a bridge tournament at Notre Dame to which the Loyola boys were invited. This could be reorganized. Also, joint picnics, field hockey games, and student hoots could be arranged between the two schools.

Both colleges have been operating for years on neighboring campuses. Yet the students of both do not seem to be close at all. The GREYHOUND believes they should be and will be starting soon. There will also be more communication between the two school papers, ours and Notre Dame's COLUMNS. There is also under consideration at this time of a joint library conveniently located for the use of both student bodies. An official announcement of this proposal and a decision from the Administrators of both schools will be made in the future.

Another possibility is having a Loyola-Notre Dame field day. This year Loyola is having theirs on Friday, May 15 and Notre Dame's on Thursday, May 14. We are sure that a better time could be had with a combined one. College life is more than books, term papers, and lectures. It is also learning how to get along with others.

Candidates Write Students Letter On Cooperation

To the Student Body:

For the past few weeks the campaign for the presidency of the Student Body has been waged with what we believe to be unprecedented spirit throughout the school. The unusually large turnout at the polls on April 24 indicated the tremendous student interest engendered by this campaign.

We both agree that this election can result in one of the most constructive years for the Student Community and the College. However, the necessary planning and co-operation must materialize if this is to occur. The efforts of all those involved in the campaign indicate that this is an attainable goal.

We look forward to a united Student Body enjoying a year in which the thoughts presented during this campaign can be translated into action which will benefit the students. Realization of those objectives which the students feel are in their best interest will come only through carefully considered and comprehensive planning on the part of the student officers, both prior to and subsequent upon consultation with the Student Body.

We consider any and all incidents relating to the past campaign which might have caused ill will an unfortunate memory to be quickly forgotten.

We thank you jointly for your courtesy and consideration during the recent campaign, and we ask for your concern and co-operation in the coming year.

The Minute Man

By Gary Atkinson

Due to the election last Friday, the Student Council did not hold its regular weekly meeting. Therefore, this week's column will be a speculation about the effect of the election, and the interest it aroused, in shaping the work of next year's Council.

During the campaign for President of the Student Body, both candidates promised to bring about revisions in the Council's method of doing business. Among the many promises were: the establishment of a question and answer period whereby members of the student body can address the Council during its regular meetings; the appointment of Committees to study student grievances, much along the same lines as a Congressional committee; and the holding of Council meetings in a larger room to facilitate greater student attendance.

The purpose of these changes is to increase student interest in their Council, and to make the Council more indicative of and responsive to the student voice.

Increased Interest

The student interest in the recent campaign and election would seem to point out the fact that Loyola men really care about their school and their leaders.

The large attendance and spirited enthusiasm exhibited during the candidates' debate illustrates that the student body is not indifferent to the issues at stake in the Student Government.

Lastly, the record breaking turnout of voters clearly shows that the potential is present for making the

The Watchdog?!

Standing outside Maryland Hall last Friday waiting for election returns, the Dog suddenly noticed puffs of white smoke issuing from one of the smoke stacks and cries of "Habemus Papam" were heard.

With R.O.T.C. students marching off to maneuvers at Fort Meade last weekend, strains of "Don't Let the Rain Come Down" were heard. Dave Dimler also had trouble at Fort Meade. He was the only R.O.T.C. cadet to dig his fox hole in a latrine.

There is a sign posted in the Dell Building bulletin board:

Really Dave, let Mommy mix the Sours!

The dog heard a strange buzzing sound coming from the Debating Office the other day. Upon investigation we found Dick Fleming using his electric razor for the third time that day. He explained, "I never know when I'm going to get a letter."

Last Friday afternoon some girls visiting from Notre Dame gave the Loyola's boys an excellent example of Good Housekeeping. Before the amazed eyes of 100 students, the girls actually cleaned and dusted their table in the cafeteria.

The Dog asked Gary Atkinson to what he attributed his loss in the recent election after conducting a virile and active campaign for Junior Vice-President. He replied, "I attribute my loss to the 100 intelligent students who voted for my opponents."

Beauregard Gordon, after a brief secession from the Loyola Student Body, returned for a command appearance at the Loyola mixer last Friday dressed as the "Grey Ghost."

The Reviewing Stand
'America America'
A Greek Dream

By Ray Ackerman

"America America" is probably one of the rarer motion pictures to come along in quite a while! Elia Kazan certainly deserves a vast amount of credit for this piece of art. Mr. Kazan wrote the script for the picture and also directed it.

This picture is quite an unusual one even though the acting is excellent. Also the sound track is very eerie and exciting. Some type of ancient Greek instruments are employed throughout the picture.

Simple Yet Powerful

In general the plot of the film is very simple. A young Grecian male has one strong desire and that is to go to America. The entire film centers around this desire.

Excluding the simplicity of the plot this film is very powerful and at times quite violent.

The picture was actually filmed in Greece and Turkey. The time is 1896. All of the action involves the young Greek's flight from the horrors of conflict between the Turks and Greeks.

All of the adventure centers around this young Grecian. He is robbed, beaten, shot, castigated, and frustrated through the entire film.

Poverty Portrayed

Throughout the plight of the boy, Elia Kazan presents the very dark and dismal aspects of life. Many of the characters are depicted as animals. The filth, poverty, and hunger of Greece and Turkey (at this period) are portrayed quite vividly.

The main character is explicitly characterized as an animal in a cage. He starts out as a human being, but he slowly degenerates from his morals and values.

Except for two or three of the actors the entire cast is made up of Greeks, Turks, and Armenians. All of the performances are truly outstanding, which is certainly one reason why "America America" was nominated as best picture of the year. This picture is a must for movie goers.

Students swing at Loyola's mixer last Friday night forgetting the trouble of a long election day.

'Twelfth Night'

The Bohemian Caverns--2001 11th. St. NW, in Washington--667-0852 Thelonious Monk until May 10.

Center Stage is presently engaged in bringing its second season to a successful close with its excellent staging of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." Combining simple, though imaginative, settings with the use of early Nineteenth Century costumes in place of the traditional Elizabethan ones, the production achieves a light, comic, and romantic atmosphere that is in perfect accord with the situation and tone of the play. The choice of costumes, according to director Bernard Hiatt, was prompted by a desire to emphasize the play as a romantic comedy by alluding to the Regency or Romantic period of English history. On a practical level, the more modern costumes provide greater visual appeal and freedom of movement.

Although structurally the play revolves around the love plot concerning Orsino, Olivia, and Viola, the real interest in this case is focused on the devilish scheming of Feste and his cohorts against the prudish Malvolio, whose pomposity and vanity are expertly communicated by William McKereghan.

But the real triumph of the show is Jon K. Landown's lanky, impish portrayal of Malvolio. So quickly does he win the audience that after his initial appearances he is able to draw applause with merely a gesture of facial expression.

The comedy runs through May 10.

The production in the round is an appealing innovation.

the unfinished business of his country and the world.

The Library will therefore include, in addition to an austere and beautiful memorial room, several working components; a Museum; an Archive; and an Institute. The challenge to the architect will be to combine these elements in a single harmonious design which will both contain the various functions of the Library and celebrate the memory of President Kennedy.

The Museum will display memorabilia of President Kennedy and his times--photographs, panoramas, scientific objects, and artifacts of all sorts arranged to portray and convey the issues, the achievements and the atmosphere of the Kennedy years.

The Museum

The Museum will not be simply a static exhibition of items in glass cases. It will employ the modern resources of electronics and design to engage the spectator in active participation and to give the exhibits a living impact. The goal of the Museum will be to make the experience of recent history as direct and intense as possible for the visitor, and especially for students and young people.

Personal Papers

The Archive will house the personal papers of President Kennedy, his family and his associates, as well as copies of the public records necessary to an understanding of the issues and actions of his administration, and transcript of interviews with his colleagues and contemporaries.

The Archive will hopefully become a center for study of mid-century America, its basic problems in domestic and foreign policy, its conception of itself and of its destiny. It will contain the necessary facilities for scholarly research, including study rooms and the most advanced equipment for a continuing oral history project, for documentary reproduction, for the use of microfilm and for the full exploitation of audiovisual materials.

Public Subscription

Under the law of 1955 authorizing the establishment of presidential libraries, the libraries themselves are to be built by public subscription and then transferred to the United States Government. The General Services Administration (National Archives) will thereafter assume responsibility for the maintenance of the physical plant as well as for the operation of the Memorial, the Museum and the Archives.

The legislation makes no provision for an Institute, however, and this project, which is the most distinctive part of the conception, will require a substantial endowment.

It is estimated that a sum of $10 million will be required to build the Kennedy Library with the Memorial Museum and Archive and to establish the Institute.

Effective Job

Whether you were pleased or disappointed at the outcome of the voting, it is up to you as individual students to help your Council do an effective job.

Know your representative and make your opinions on pending motions known to him. Although they can't please everyone by their decision, it is the job of the Council to listen to everyone and decide on the best course of action in a given situation.

Hitless Ball, Poor Fielding Contribute To Twin Loss

By Dan Whalen, Asst. Sports Editor

Hitless ball and poor fielding spelt defeat for the Greyhounds last Saturday in both ends of a double-header against Mount St. Mary's. In five innings of the first game, Mike Elliott got the only single for the Hounds.

The Mounties threatened in the sixth inning with one out when they loaded the bases on a walk and two singles. Freshman pitcher Jack Cuneo worked his way out of the inning allowing no runs to score.

The Mount rallied in the seventh with two out. Three walks, two singles to left, and an error tied the ball game, 3-3.

Loyola failed to get a hit in the last of the seventh and the Mount won the game 4-3 in the eighth on two runs, an error, and a passed ball.

Two errors, two walks, and a single to left gave the Mountaineers a 3-0 first inning lead in the second game. John Campbell got the only hit for the Hounds in the first inning.

Junior pitcher Gene Lacey put the Mounties down in order until the sixth when they picked up two runs on two errors and two singles. In his first complete game, Gene struck out 9, walked 2, yielded only 2 earned runs on five hits.

A lack of hits and error-filled fielding rendered the Hounds open to final defeat, 5-0.

The Hounds overall record now stands at 6-4 overall, and 5-3 in the Conference. Tomorrow and Sunday the Hounds face Georgetown.

Hopkins Outdrives Hound Linksmen

By Bob Malko

In their third match of the season the Greyhound linksmen were edged by Johns Hopkins' Blue Jays 11 to 7 on a muddy Mount Pleasant Municipal Course.

The loss was the second for the Hounds, who have one victory over Western Maryland. The Hounds were led by junior, Mike Ward, for the second straight time. Ward swept a 3-0 victory from Mike Kirkpatrick of the Jays, and is now the team's leading scorer with six points out of a possible seven and one-half.

Joe Coyle and Mike Kenney continued to score regularly as they both halved their matches for three more points. Captain Bill Kohlhepp picked up the other Hound point by registering a back nine triumph. Dick Burt and Bob Clark were shut out in their matches.

Wynn Smith of Hopkins was the medalist for the day with an 82. Joe Coyle, playing in the third position, was low man for the Hounds with an 83.

The Hounds have a tentative match with Baltimore U. remaining on their schedule.

Other matches are being planned for next year.

Four Greyhounds Run New Record

By Fred Dumser

Loyola downed Washington College at Chestertown, Maryland Wednesday, 71-65.

Loyola was leading 66-65 up to the last event—the relay. Pete Smith, Frank Moritz, Tony Virgilio, and Billy Morris won the event in 3:39 giving the Loyola team five more points.

American University and host Mt. St. Mary's led the way in the annual Mason-Dixon Relays.

Finishing first and second respectively, AU and the Mount were joined by Gallaudet, Catholic U., Loyola, Western Maryland, and Washington College in a meet that saw several records fall by the wayside.

The highlights of the day, as far as Loyola men were concerned, were the excellent performances of junior Bill Morris, and soph Jim Creamer. Jim's second place finish in the discus with an effort of over a hundred and twenty-one feet echoed Bill Morris' 2 seconds in the broad and triple jumps. Both received medals for their victories.

More happiness

Another note of importance was in Loyola's third place finish in the 880 yard relay.

The team of T. Ryan, Lew Schaffner, Tony Virgilio, and Bill Morris broke Loyola's school record in this event. These same runners also ran the best of Loyola's 440 times this year.

Also a surprise was Frank Moritz's triple jump efforts which won him a fourth place mark. This was Frank's premier in this event.

This Saturday at ten-thirty, Loyola will play Gallaudet.

By Bernie Vondersmith, Sports Editor

Managers have the unfortunate and unwilling habit of getting more guff than the batter whose average has done a nose dive, or the pitcher whose earned run average approaches infinity.

The manager is as essential to the team as the letterman, as integral as part as a good fast break, and as effective as he wants to be.

The duties of the manager are many and trivial; reward is seldom. The scream "manager!!" echoes through every locker room. A combination water boy, towel boy, first aid man, scorekeeper, timekeeper, ball boy, errand runner is rolled into one man and one job.

Managers do all the "little" work that keeps the teams functioning. A good manager is the administrative principal of organization, who makes it possible for coach and players to devote full time to the obligation of winning and losing. Often sent in two directions at the same time, the manager has a knack for springing a second set of legs.

On a road trip the manager becomes a walking strongbox, weighed down by the jewels and valuables of all his teammates. When the time comes to head homeward, someone has to round up all the stragglers. Before each game he lays out all the uniforms in neat piles; after the game he gathers up the wet and muddy remnants of the same uniforms.

Anyone who can perform all this work for three years deserves more than the recognition given them by a letter and a sweater. Managers are scarce, but good managers are bound to extinction.

The team sets up a play for a goal.

Stickmen Battle To Tie Against Delaware's Hens

By Stan Hellman

The Hound stickmen defeated Towson State, last Tuesday, 8-1 at Towson's campus.

The Hounds dominated the game from the outset by outthrusting and outpositioning the Tigers. Providing the bite, Bill Asher shot from right center for the first goal, with Tony Federico getting the assist. Other scoring was by John Stewart 2 goals, John White 1 (his first), Henry Stewart 1, Lou Becker 1, and 3 goals for Bill Asher.

Playing their most exciting and closest lacrosse game of the year, the Loyola ten tangled in a 7-7 deadlock with the University of Delaware. With the exception of one brief period, no team led by more than one goal at any time.

Delaware's All-American attackman Haylor Osborne got the Blue Hens out in front quickly with a goal at 0:31 of the first period.

However, Lou Becker converted a pass from John Stewart to tie the score, and minutes later John Skoglin fed Marty Pilachowski to give the Hounds a brief lead.

Another goal by Osborne completed the first period scoring.

The second quarter saw Delaware take a 5-4 lead. Bill Fleming scored on a long screen shot, and Ron Bacinski flipped in a rebound for the Delaware scores. The only Loyola tally came on an extra-man with Henry Stewart scoring.

The Blue Hens' only second half goal came early in the third quarter on a feed from Osborne to Marty Cassidy.

Bill Asher dodged in from the midfield midway through the third period and then fired a hard shot past the opposing goalie.

The Hounds' drives for the tying goal were successful when a low shot by John Stewart from the midfield found the mark.

Each team scored within the first two minutes of the first overtime period. Harrison tallying for Delaware and John Stewart for Loyola.

The Hound defense faced a stiff test when they successfully rode a penalty during the last minute of play.

A large measure of the credit for holding Delaware to one goal in the second half must go to Tim Martin who held Osborne scoreless during the entire half.

On May 7 the stickmen meet Washington and Lee University.

Focus On Sports

Lou Albert came to Loyola from the University of Maryland, and being a transfer student, he was not allowed to play tennis in his sophomore year.

As a junior, Lou played number four for Loyola's Mason-Dixon champions and was undefeated, finishing the season at 15-0. In the championship match with Hampden-Sydney, Lou lost the first set but came back to win the next two. His win was important in Loyola's 5-4 victory.

This season Lou has continued his winning ways with a 4-2 mark. One of these two losses is a non-league loss to Lafayette.

Lou is a biology major with an impressive 3.2 Q.P.A. He has received an assistantship from the University of Maryland where he will work toward his Ph. D.

Lou is vice-president of the Mendel Biological Club and was recently named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. The senior tennis ace also plans marriage in the next year.
